BALCLIS acts only as an intermediary between the Seller and the Buyer in relation to the Lots that are auctioned in the Auctions.

All Lots of each of the Auctions will be accompanied by a cataloging and description, as well as images that allow the Buyer to have a clear idea of the status and characteristics of the Lot.

The Buyer is informed that, since the majority of Lots auctioned on the Platform are physically located at any BALCLIS headquarters (hereinafter referred to as the "Venues"), he may personally examine the Lot in which he is interested in the Facilities. In any case, the time allowed for the realization of the Auction of each Lot will not under any circumstances be altered by this face-to-face examination of the Buyer.

The Lots will be awarded to the Bidder who has bid (hereinafter, the "Bidder") and who is the highest bidder at the end of the Auction, provided that the requirements indicated in these General Conditions are met.

BALCLIS reserves the right to: i) request additional references to the Buyer to verify some of the information provided in the Form; ii) request additional guarantees to be able to bid in the Auction and iii) accept or reject the bids of any Buyer in the Auction.

6. Auction

Web / Online:

When a Registered Buyer wants to participate in the bidding of an Auction, BALCLIS or, if applicable, AUCTIONET will automatically assign a numeric code or Palette Number that will identify him as a bidder within the Auction, thus maintaining his anonymity. The Web / Online Auctions incorporate a countdown in the form of a stopwatch (hereinafter, the "Back Count"), which account for the time remaining to participate in the bidding of a Lot. If a bid is made during the last minute of the Auction, the Back Count will be extended three more minutes to accommodate other possible bids.

Online Users will also have an option in the Platform to participate in the Auctions that take place in person in the Room. This option, enabled in its Buyer Zone on the Platform, will allow them to follow remotely and, if applicable, participate in real time, in the Auction held in the Room through a video camera. The only peculiarity with respect to the ordinary Auctions process in the Platform for Online Users is that these specific Auctions that are held in the Room will not be subject to a Back Count, but that the time of the Auction will be determined by the Auction director who is commission it.

Any bid made on the Platform by a Buyer will be included automatically, within the Buyer Zone where the Buyer can track the history of the Bids for which he has bid.

In person:

The Presential Buyer wishing to participate in the bidding of a Lot must request from BALCLIS, after registration at the desk set up at the Headquarters, an identification palette with its corresponding identification number (hereinafter, the "Palette Number") that will enable it to Access and bid in the Face-to-Face Auction.

Likewise, BALCLIS has enabled a tablet and chairs in the facilities to allow the present users who wish to come to follow in real time the different Auctions that take place directly on the Platform.

The Auction Director will be assisted by a Board Secretary who may bid on behalf of the offers received in writing, by telephone or by any other means accepted by the Board. In the bids received in writing before the auction, the bids will be defended up to the maximum amount set by the bidder, although the lots will be awarded at the lowest possible price
